

A head assembly is provided with a mounting surface, and an integrated circuit chip which is mounted on the mounting surface and processes signals. The integrated circuit chip is covered by a layer which prevents generation of foreign particles from the integrated circuit chip by the provision of the layer.

35

[illegible]